1. Scope of the work

. Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This section defines the business, functional, operational, integration, security, reporting, implementation and non-functional requirements for the proposed Merchant Payment Portal. It shall be used by bidders to prepare their technical and commercial proposals and shall subsequently form part of the contractual scope.

1.2 Business Context

The Bank currently provides online merchant acquiring services through its existing payment environment, including its Card Management System (CMS) and Internet Payment Gateway (IPG). Merchant onboarding, transaction enquiries, payment-link coordination, invoice and receipt issuance, settlement information, refund coordination, reporting and support presently involve significant manual communication and operational intervention. The proposed portal will provide a secure, centralized and auditable digital channel for merchant self-service and Bank administration.

1.3 Objectives

Provide merchants with secure role-based access to transaction, settlement and service information; enable merchant-branded invoice and payment-link generation, payment-status tracking and receipt issuance; support configurable merchant-wise document numbering, controlled duplicate reproduction, refunds and service-request workflows; reduce manual support; improve reporting, transparency and auditability; and establish a scalable platform for future merchant services.

2. Scope

2.1 In Scope

A responsive web-based merchant portal; Bank administration portal; merchant and user lifecycle management; transaction enquiry; merchant-branded invoice generation; configurable invoice and receipt numbering; payment links; payment receipts; controlled duplicate invoice and receipt reproduction; settlement and reconciliation information; refunds and service requests; reports and analytics; notifications; dispute visibility; integration with the Bank's approved payment and supporting systems; security, audit, monitoring, UAT, production and DR deployment; training, documentation, warranty and support.

2.2 Out of Scope

Replacement of the existing CMS, IPG, acquiring switch or card-scheme interfaces; automatic merchant approval outside the Bank's approved due diligence process; unrelated core banking changes; and new payment schemes or major CMS/IPG enhancements unless separately approved.

2.3 Key Assumptions

The Bank will facilitate access to interfaces, environments and information that are available under its approved architecture and contractual arrangements. Bidders shall not assume that new Cardzone APIs or professional services will be provided without separate assessment and approval. The bidder may propose an existing proven platform, available interfaces, a secure hosted or redirected payment model, or another feasible approach, subject to Bank validation. All data shall remain within Bank-approved infrastructure and jurisdiction, and all assumptions and third-party dependencies shall be disclosed.

2.4 Permitted Solution Approaches

The Bank does not prescribe a single product, development or integration model. A bidder may propose an existing operational product, an existing platform requiring configuration or enhancement, or a custom-developed solution supported by a functional prototype. Regardless of the approach, the bidder shall assume end-to-end responsibility for functional completeness, security, integration, implementation, support and the disclosed total cost of ownership.

All bidders shall be assessed against the same Bank-prescribed demonstration scenarios and evaluation criteria. The evaluation shall focus on demonstrated functional completeness, correctness, usability, security, configurability, integration feasibility and delivery approach. An existing deployment may be submitted as supporting evidence, but no additional marks shall be awarded solely because a solution has previously been deployed, is commercially operational, or has an established market presence. A configurable or custom-developed solution may earn the same marks where it demonstrates equivalent capability through a genuine functional prototype, credible architecture and complete implementation plan.

3. Users and Roles

3.1 Merchant Users

Merchant Administrator, Merchant Maker, Merchant Checker/Approver, Finance/Reconciliation User, Operations User and Read-Only/Audit User.

3.2 Bank Users

Bank Super Administrator, Merchant Operations User, Settlement/Reconciliation User, Support User, Security/Audit User and Technical Administrator.

3.3 Role Principles

Access shall follow least privilege, segregation of duties and maker-checker controls where applicable. Roles and permissions shall be configurable and auditable.

4. High-Level Business Processes

4.1 Merchant Activation

Following Bank approval, the merchant profile shall be created or synchronized, users registered, credentials securely delivered, first-login controls completed and access activated after applicable approvals.

4.2 Transaction Enquiry

Authorized merchant users shall search, filter, view and export transactions using permitted criteria, with status, response details and lifecycle information sourced from approved systems.

4.3 Payment Link

Authorized users shall create a merchant-branded invoice and associated payment link with amount, currency, customer reference, description, invoice details and expiry; share or download the invoice and link through approved channels; and track the invoice and payment-link status together with the related transaction details.

4.4 Payment Confirmation, Receipt and Duplicate Documents

Upon confirmed successful payment, the system shall generate a merchant-branded receipt linked to the invoice, payment link and transaction reference. Authorized users shall be able to view, download, print, share or reproduce controlled duplicate copies of invoices and receipts. Merchant-wise numbering shall support a system-generated sequential series or Bank-approved configurable prefixes and numbering formats, while preventing duplicate numbers, reuse or unaudited changes.

4.5 Refund

A permitted user shall initiate a full or partial refund, subject to validation and maker-checker approval. The request shall be transmitted through the approved payment interface or controlled Bank workflow, and the resulting status shall be tracked and audited.

4.6 Settlement and Reconciliation

Merchant users shall view settlement summaries, transaction-level details, deductions and net settlement information and download reports for reconciliation.

5. Detailed Functional Requirements

Requirements in this section are classified as Mandatory or Evaluated in the Priority column. Mandatory requirements are non-negotiable and must be confirmed for delivery within the quoted cost and implementation period. Mandatory requirements included in the Bank-prescribed prototype scenarios must be demonstrated during technical evaluation. Evaluated requirements will be scored for demonstrated functionality, completeness, usability, configurability and delivery approach. Any material exception to a Mandatory requirement may render the bid technically non-responsive.

Documentary evidence shall be preferred. Where evidence cannot be shared due to a valid confidentiality, intellectual-property or third-party restriction, the bidder shall submit the signed declaration prescribed in Section 12. The Bank may verify any claim through demonstration, controlled review, reference checks, clarification or other appropriate means.

non-functional requirements shall proceed to technical scoring. The Bank may seek clarification or independently verify licences, references, declarations, staffing and other evidence; however, clarification shall not be used to cure a material eligibility failure or to introduce a substantially new proposal after bid closing.

TECHNICAL EVALUATION AND SCORING MATRIX

1. Evaluation Methodology

aa. Maximum Technical Score: 100 marks.

The complete marks, sub-criteria, scoring rules, minimum scores and weightages stated in this section shall be disclosed to bidders as part of the RFP. Evaluation shall be limited to the published criteria and supported by recorded evaluator comments and evidence references.

bb. Minimum Technical Qualifying Score: 90 marks out of 100.

cc. A bidder must fully comply with every mandatory functional and non-functional requirement and satisfy all published eligibility and qualification requirements.

dd. Meeting the mandatory baseline does not automatically earn full technical marks. the Technical Evaluation and Scoring section evaluate demonstrated functional completeness, correctness, usability, configurability, integration architecture, security, delivery readiness, implementation approach and supporting evidence. All bidders shall be assessed against the same prescribed scenarios. No additional marks shall be awarded solely because a solution is already commercially operational or has previously been deployed.

ee. Scoring shall be based on the mandatory demonstration, documentary evidence, proposal references, architecture documents, signed declarations and reference checks. Claims that are not demonstrated or adequately evidenced may receive reduced or no marks. A declaration alone shall not require the Bank to award technical marks.

ff. Only technically qualified bidders shall proceed to commercial evaluation.

gg. The technical score shall be normalized to 70% for QCBS evaluation; the commercial score shall be normalized to 30%.

2. Mandatory Prototype Demonstration

All bidders that pass the Mandatory Eligibility and Qualification section shall participate in a Bank-scheduled technical demonstration using the same prescribed scenarios and, where applicable, common test data provided or approved by the Bank. The bidder may demonstrate an existing operational product, a controlled sandbox, a configurable platform or a functional prototype that it owns or is authorized to offer. The demonstration shall use the bidder's proposed solution and shall not consist only of slides, static screenshots, videos or conceptual UI mock-ups. Live integration with the Bank's production environment shall not be required at the bidding stage; simulated or sandbox interfaces may be used where they credibly demonstrate the proposed end-to-end flow and controls.

The Bank may provide scripted scenarios, sample data and follow-up questions. The bidder shall clearly distinguish functionality that is currently operational, available through configuration, requires customization/development, or depends on the Bank or another third party. A controlled simulation may be used for external interfaces that cannot be connected during the demonstration, provided that the end-to-end workflow, messages, controls and error handling are clearly shown.

Merchant Payment Portal RFP

PD-06	Automatic branded receipt generation and delivery after confirmed payment, with unique receipt numbering and linkage to invoice and transaction.	Working or controlled simulated receipt flow, PDF/download, customer/merchant delivery and controlled resend.
PD-07	Controlled duplicate/reprint of invoice and receipt using the original number, with Duplicate/Reprint marking and audit history.	Search, retrieval and regenerated document demonstrating no new document number.
PD-08	Transaction search, settlement/reconciliation visibility, refund initiation/approval, refund linkage and exception handling.	Working or controlled simulated workflows with masking, downloadable output and traceable statuses.

Failure to attend the demonstration or failure to provide a functional solution/prototype shall result in failure of EQ-15. The bidder must demonstrate the critical end-to-end flow covering secure access, merchant setup and branding, invoice generation, payment-link generation, successful payment or controlled payment simulation, automatic status update, receipt generation, duplicate/reprint control, transaction retrieval and audit visibility. Bidders that pass the mandatory demonstration shall be scored under Section 4.1. 4.1.1 Demonstration Evaluation Principles

- hh. The same demonstration script, sample scenarios and evaluation criteria shall be applied to all bidders.
- ii. Scores shall be based on functionality actually demonstrated. Written commitments, slides, screenshots, videos or conceptual designs shall not earn demonstration marks unless supported by a working flow.
- jj. No additional marks shall be awarded solely because the solution has previously been deployed, is commercially operational or has an established market presence.
- kk. The bidder shall clearly distinguish functionality that is currently working, configurable, subject to customization/development, or dependent on the Bank or another third party.
- ll. The Evaluation Committee may request reasonable clarification or repetition of a scenario; however, material development performed after the scheduled demonstration shall not retrospectively increase the score.

4.1.2 Minimum Demonstration Score and Critical Flow

A bidder shall obtain at least 18 marks out of 30 under Section 4.1. In addition, the bidder must successfully demonstrate the critical end-to-end flow covering merchant setup and branding, invoice generation, payment-link generation, successful payment or controlled payment simulation, automatic invoice/payment status update, receipt generation, duplicate/reprint control and transaction retrieval. Achieving 18 marks without demonstrating this critical flow shall not be sufficient for technical qualification.
